Take the opportunity to explore the nearby archeological site at San Gervasio, the island's largest and best-preserved Mayan ruins, and uncover the history of this long-lived culture. Your professional tour guide will meet you at the pier and walk you to your air-conditioned bus. Begin your tour with a short drive through Cozumel's largest town, San Miguel, to see local houses, shops and modern-day residents, many of who are descendants of the area's original Mayan inhabitants. Away from modern civilization and nestled in the jungle, San Gervasio was once the island's center of culture and religion, in particular the worship of Ixchel, the goddess of moon, childbirth, fertility, medicine, and weaving. Your certified guide will lead you through the archeological site and share important facts.
